Overview and Philosophy

The Green McAdoo Cultural Center curriculum is designed to facilitate the learning experiences of middle and high school students both inside and outside the classroom “walls.” These materials may be used as pre-visit, site visit, and post-visit activities, or they may also be used to supplement the “Clinton 12” DVD, produced by Keith Daniels.

Objectives

- A study of the experience of the Clinton 12 provides a powerful forum for students to engage in discovery, conversation, critical thinking, and the development and cultivation of respect.
- This curriculum is designed to engage students to think outside of their comfort zones: to look at the big picture as they reflect on larger issues, to make informed commentary, to ask difficult questions, to develop and respect each other’s opinions, and to nurture a sense of honor.
- This curriculum also recognizes the distinctiveness of each student’s learning style.
